STEAMSHIP SIBERIA IS REPORTED SUNK BY CHINESE PIRATES

S. O. S. Calls From Liner, With 721 Aboard, Are Heard Coming From Formosa Coast and Then Are Lost

DETAILS OF VESSEL'S PLIGHT ARE LACKING

One Report Says She Is Sunk, Another Ashore—Wife of Governor-General of Philippines Among Passengers

(By Associated Press.)
TOKIO, May 1.—Wireless calls for assistance from the Pacific mail steamer Siberia, heard on the Japanese coast here, indicated that she was in grave peril off the coast of Formosa. The liner left San Francisco April 5, for Manila. She carries 711 passengers, including Mrs. Francis Burton Harrison, wife of the governor-general of the Philippines. A dispatch from Manila said that Chinese pirates were believed to have something to do with the disaster.
The exact nature of the accident has not yet been determined, nor have any details been received here up to a late hour tonight.
A wireless report said the liner was "sinking," while a later message conveyed the information that she was "abandoned" six miles off the south coast of Formosa Island.
The Japanese government dispatched the steamer Kanto Maru from Formosa to the scene of the disaster as soon as the news of her trouble was received.
Among the passengers on the Siberia are the bride Mrs. Harrison is Mrs. John B. Harrison, wife of the new British ambassador at Manila.
The report current in Tokyo that Chinese pirates only have been connected with the disaster to the liner also at Formosa, where it was covered in a telegram.
The greatest anxiety prevails over the fact that the wireless calls from the Siberia have ceased. A. Williamson, the American consul at Manila, Formosa, telegraphed he fears the liner is in the hands of the pirates.
When the first wireless call was heard, the nearest ship, the Manila, was 100 miles away.
The steamship Siberia, Captain Zenz, left from the Philippines for Manila, Manila, Yokohama and Hong Kong.

House Is Practically Sold Out for Puccini's Fascinating Butterfly

Demand for Seats Indicates That Butterfly Will Be the "Big Night" of the Whole Season

By Dudley Glass

With practically every seat in the vast auditorium in the hands of the ultimate consumer and the box office besieged by those who made up their minds too late, the stage is being hung with yuletide and cherry blossoms for "Madama Butterfly," the touching story of love and service in which are combined the genius of John Luther Long, David Belasco, Giacomo Puccini and the three stellar singers of the night—Geraldine Farrar, Antonio Scotti and Riccardo Martin. Evidently it is to be the "big night" of the season.
Certainly no opera in modern repertoire could offer more. Miss Farrar is not only the greatest of the role of Cio-Cio-San, the Japanese girl-wife; she is "Butterfly" herself. No other personage of the Metropolitan is dreamed of for the part. In it Miss Farrar has achieved success divided only by her superb Florida Tosca. It is perhaps the role she loves best of all, and it is apparent that her audiences prefer it to all others.

SAME FAMOUS CAST TO APPEAR TONIGHT

Tonight will offer the same famous cast of principals who sang "Butterfly" four years ago, in Atlanta's first opera season. Antonio Scotti, who for several days has been the center of admiring groups in the social affairs which have marked the season, is to sing Sharpless again, and Martin is once more the "Yankton." They are the "originals" in "Butterfly," and their voices are always at their best in these Puccini roles. Miss Farrar is to have the role part of Suzuki, Butterfly's faithful maid. Lenora Macken, the role of Kate Pinkerton, rather a fashion plate than a vocal part, by the way; Bada will be heard in the excellent comedy part of Goro; Audino will be the Prince Yamadori; Basil Ruyssdael, the Prince Vincenzo Reschiglian will sing the Imperial Commissioner, and Toscanini is to lead the orchestra through the appealing strains of Puccini's beautiful opera.
In no opera of the season will the orchestra be given such an opportunity as in "Butterfly." Into this work Puccini threw his whole soul. It is a masterpiece of color, rich in color, resonant with the perfume of exotic flowers, there are moments when the music is the uttering of a thousand birds, passages which bring the whistling swifts through the cherry trees. There are joy and youth and laughter, and the tenderest of emotions, the throbs of a broken heart.
It is the most exquisite music which ever has been given Atlanta opera-goers, and though the vocal score is beautiful

INAUGURATE DEBATE ON PANAMA TOLLS REPEAL

Submit Amendment for Arbitration on Rights of U. S. to Make Exemption

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Debate on the repeal of the tolls for American coastwise vessels passing through the Panama canal was inaugurated in the senate today, when Senator Norris advocated an amendment to the house bill which would submit to arbitration the right of the United States to make toll exemption.
"It would satisfy the world as to the honesty of our contention and convince all civilization that we are ready to abide by the fair and honest judgment of honest men," said Senator Norris. He added that if any American ships are to be exempted from the payment of tolls, he would prefer the exemption of American ships engaged in the foreign rather than coastwise trade.

INTERSTATE BILL ON TRADE COMMISSION NOW MADE PUBLIC

Provides for Body of Five, Not More Than Three of One Political Party, at $10,000 a Year

R. R. REPRESENTATIVES TO BE HEARD MAY 11 AND 12

Bill Makes Guilt Personal by Making Directors, Officers and Agents Responsible for Violations of Law

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 1.—The administration interstate trade commission bill, as framed by a subcommittee of the senate interstate commerce committee, was made public today. Railroad representatives will be heard on the bill by the committee May 11 and 12, and others interested as opponents.
The bill would provide for a commission of five, not more than three of one political party, at $10,000 a year. Each commissioner would be allowed $5,000 for a secretary. The commission would be authorized "to investigate the organization, business, financial condition, management and its relations to other corporations, of any corporation engaged in such commerce as congress has the power to regulate under the constitution."
The bill also would empower the commission to require annual or special reports from any corporation subject to make public its information and to recommend legislation to congress. The bill specifically would provide that nothing in the act should interfere with the attorney general's enforcement of the anti-trust or interstate commerce laws, and the commission would be required to submit to the attorney general any evidence and findings of violation of the law.
In equity suits under the anti-trust laws, at the request of any party to the litigation, the commission would be required to act as master in chancery and recommend to the court a form of decree. The commission would be empowered, on its own initiative or on the application of the attorney general, to investigate the carrying out of any antitrust decree entered by the courts.
The measure would prohibit interfering directors in competitive corporations, and prohibit holding companies, prescribing detailed procedure for the enforcement of these provisions.
It prescribed that all corporation stock must be fully paid for. In these sections the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission over common carriers is respected.

Mediators Fear Carranza Will Decline Peace Offer And Press War on Huerta

GOOD RESULTS IN FIGHT OF HOKE SMITH ON TERRELL

Southern Senators Enlighten Their Colleagues on Race Question

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1.—The determined fight of southern senators, under the leadership of Senators Vardaman, of Mississippi, and Hoke Smith, against the confirmation of Robert H. Terrell as a nonsectarian court judge in the city of Washington is believed to have facilitated the acceptance of the conference report yesterday.
In the quiet of executive session Senators Hoke Smith, Vardaman and others reviewed the entire history of the way in which the white people of the south have handled the race question, and demonstrated convincingly they were dealing with it in the only fair and intelligent manner possible.
Vardaman and Hoke Smith, particularly, presented the southern side of the question elaborately, and while Terrell was confirmed finally a large vote in opposition was recorded.
Notwithstanding the confirmation of the negro, it is conceded that the opposition and debate served to open the eyes of the northern Republican senators, and to strengthen the southern side in their treatment of the race problem.

GEN. EVANS COMING HERE TO INSPECT WAR PLANS

Will Go Over Mobilization Camps, Transportation Lines, Etc., in Southern States

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 1.—Brigadier General R. K. Evans, commanding the eastern division, will leave Washington tonight for Atlanta to look into the condition of that part of the country's militia, which would be included in the United States army in the event of a war. While General Evans himself would not discuss his mission, it is believed that he will look into the state of the various mobilization camps, where the troops are stationed, and the condition of transportation lines, and also into the national concentration camps, where the troops might be merged and prepared for dispatch to Europe.

His Orders to Rebel Advance on Tampico Construed to Mean He Is Unwilling to Arbitrate

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—To what extent intervention between the United States and Huerta would be affected by a refusal of the Carranza element to suspend military operations against Huerta pending mediation was the chief question confronting the South American mediators when they resumed their sessions today.
The night conference between the mediators and Secretary Bryan, lasting for more than two hours, had established definitely that the United States and Huerta would suspend military operations, the only reservation made by the United States being that it would be free to repeat any attacks, but Carranza still held aloof from any suspension of hostilities between him and the Mexican federal forces.
The work of the mediators, it was learned in authoritative quarters, would proceed steadily, no matter what the final attitude of Carranza on the question of an armistice may be, although an adverse decision by him would necessarily contraindicate the mediation in the main issue between the United States and Huerta. It was this main

SOLICITOR CHARGES FORGERY WAS USED IN SOME AFFIDAVITS

Investigator Burke Put on Rack—Two Witnesses Swear to Having Heard Screams on Second Floor of Factory at 12:10

Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey was in the midst of his counter showing against the granting of the extraordinary motion of Leo M. Frank for a new court Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock until Monday morning.
Solicitor Dorsey summed up the state's contention in reference to the extraordinary motion by declaring "it nothing added to nothing makes something extraordinary motion something to this state's contention in reference to the motion of the defendant offered by the defense for their extraordinary motion for a new trial, and made particular attention to Detective Dan S. Lebon, of the Bureau agency, and C. W. Burke, special behind the Hagadale murder, and that some of the affidavits offered by the defense which were witnessed before C. W. Burke as a notary were forgeries."
The Solicitor presented an affidavit from Mrs. J. B. Simmons stating she had always claimed it was 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon when she thought she heard screams coming from the basement of the pencil factory.
One of the most sensational features of the solicitor's counter showing was the charge of forgery from two witnesses, W. T. Tucker and his son, I. Tucker, in which they claimed they heard screams coming from the second floor of the pencil factory at 12:10 o'clock on the day of the tragedy.
When the hearing before Judge R. H. Hill was resumed Friday morning in the state library to receive affidavits in support of the motion by the defense, the defense introduced further amendments to its motion.
One of these related to affidavits from Georgia Lebon and Mrs. J. L. Lebon, employees of the National Pencil Factory, that Jimmy Conley, the negro, was there, accused of Frank as principal, admitted to them before he was arrested under suspicion of the crime, that the shirt he was wearing after when arrested had been found in the room, and that he was not stained as the police believed.

Another of the amendments sought to place in the records the letters alleged to have been written by Jim Conley to his wife, Anne Maud Carter, a negro woman living in Atlanta.
By these letters, which contain the words "white" and "negro," the defense expects to attack the state's argument that if Conley had written the murder note of his own volition, without granted that there would be no hostility during the mediation proceedings, and had intended no further acts of aggression while the conference was being held."

NO WORD COMES FROM CARANZA

With these reports before them, the envoys were prepared to go ahead with their peace plans, so far as the United States and the Huerta government are concerned. No word had come from General Carranza, however, concerning a proposed armistice between the constitutionalists and federalists in Mexico. On the rebel chief's answer depends largely the plan of the mediators for undertaking a peaceful settlement of the whole Mexican problem, internal strife as well as differences between the United States and the Huerta regime.

News from Mexico that General Carranza and General Villa were pushing ahead their southward movement and preparing for a general attack on Tampico threw a damper upon hopes for peace between the warring Mexican factions.

Secretary Bryan left the legation shortly before midnight and the mediators continued their conference. Heated, but none the less steady, preparation for any military eventuality that may become necessary, and the quiet but definite progress of the mediation program being worked out behind closed doors—these were the two outstanding features of the Mexican situation here today.

While there has been no period set within which the negotiations must be concluded, Secretary Bryan said today he believed they would move forward "as rapidly as possible." A report that they might be prolonged by the mediators going to Mexico to meet by the statement by one of the mediators that in these days of the press and public opinion such a journey was unnecessary.

WILL HUERTA ADMIT CARANZA?

While the envoys were not ready to admit Carranza, several interesting phases of what has come up during the discussion were learned from authoritative sources. It appears that while the attitude of General Huerta was definite in accepting intermediation as between the United States and the Huerta government, it has not yet been made clear as to his acceptance of Carranza as a representative of the United States. It is expected that this question will be cleared up by the envoys now under way, so that it may be definitely established that Huerta not only accepts intermediation with the United States but also with Carranza.

Another outgrowth of the discussion was an intimation that the Huerta and Carranza elements would send representatives to deal directly with the mediators. That Francisco de la Huerta, now at Paris as ambassador for Huerta, probably would be designated to go for Huerta. It was known that the mediators themselves had made no move for a personal representative from either party. But there was reason to believe that the Huerta element was being considered at Mexico City by the mediators. A representative of Carranza, who is on his way here, may be authorized to act in direct capacity.

During the day the intermediaries received word of the encouraging attitude of the foremost European powers, notably Great Britain, which had been in direct contact directly for the friendly influence of intermediation. Their home governments have enlisted their ambassadors in Europe in direct capacity to secure friendly co-operation. The responses are in general encouraging, yet the difficulties still in the way of a settlement are recognized. One of the difficulties pointed out was that the difficulties increased as the scope of intermediation was broadened. It likened the situation to the so-called "difficulties" between Europe and the United States.

Further conferences were held today, and the mediators continued their work. The suggestion of a neutral zone around Tampico, which was made by the mediators, was not accepted by Carranza. Another suggestion was made by the mediators, that Carranza should be allowed to remain in Mexico in case Huerta retired, but it was believed in some quarters that Carranza would not accept this. It was stated that Carranza had been asked to leave Mexico, but he had refused to do so.

CARRANZA'S NOTE IS ANALYZED

Local constitutionalists drew attention to the language of the note from General Carranza, as not accepting any offer to solve the differences between himself and General Huerta, but merely to listen to proposals which would solve differences between the United States and the Huerta government. The note from Carranza to the mediators, which he extended to the envoys, was analyzed by all parties at interest in the problem of the pacification of Mexico and the settlement of the differences between Mexico and the United States.

AMERICAN ARMY HOLD VERA CRUZ

Navy Turns the Mexic Port Over to Funston's Brigade. Natives Gaze in Wonder at the Brown-Clad Soldiers.

Vera Cruz, April 30.—The task of guarding the city of Vera Cruz and its environs was taken over from the navy today by Brigadier General Funston and the Fifth Infantry brigade of the United States army.

While martial law still continues in force the actual municipal government is being conducted by Robert J. Kerr, the American civil governor, who has enlisted the aid of Mexican officials to act under his superintendence and in accordance with Mexican laws.

After a morning session by the marching and the large bodies of American soldiers, sailors and marines, the city resumed its normal and somewhat sleepy daily life. The evening, however, was made gay by outdoor dinner parties at the cafes and restaurants, accompanied by music and sometimes by dancing.

The Troops Disembark.—The American troops began their disembarkation from the transports at an early hour in the morning. Once on shore, they were lined up along the docks and in the railroad yards and before noon all had marched to the posts assigned to them in various parts of the city and outlying suburbs.

As the various detachments swung into the streets, their flags flying and their hallicorns came out into the sidewalks and gazed with undisturbed wonder at the ranks of the brown-clad men. The people seemed to marvel at the precision of the American soldiers' movements and their sturdy appearance.

Many American civilians who had been taking their breakfast outdoors left their tables and watched with pride the passing of the newly arrived troops, shouting voices of "hurrahs" and waving hats or handkerchiefs at them.

Shortly after the last of the troops had passed through the central streets, with several aides, drove by in a carriage and was greeted with an outburst of applause.

When the men took up their stations and the reports had been received by Brigadier General Funston, official calls were exchanged between Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, Governor Robert J. Kerr and Brigadier General Funston.

Order by Admiral Fletcher.—Later in the day an order was issued by Rear Admiral Fletcher, who had been in command of the American naval forces, that the American navy should leave the city and the rest of the Gulf of Mexico. The order was issued at the headquarters of the United States Naval Forces, on Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 30, 1914.

The naval forces occupying the city of Vera Cruz will at 2 p. m., April 30, 1914, withdraw and turn the command of the city over to the United States army.

The navy landed at 11 o'clock a. m., April 21, 1914. From shore after their landing the men were ordered to land their arms and equipment on the morning of the 22d.

At that time, when all organized authority in the city of Vera Cruz had been withdrawn, the order was given to the United States army to take possession of the city. The United States army, under the command of Brigadier General Funston, landed at 11 o'clock a. m., April 21, 1914. From shore after their landing the men were ordered to land their arms and equipment on the morning of the 22d.

AT THE THEATERS

Keith Junior Vaudeville.

There was plenty of comedy, a proportionate display of novelty and much music at the Keith Junior Vaudeville at the Grand last night. Like-

What is considered the prettiest act staged on three-day circuits, Richard's "The Girl of the Year," was a real attraction of the show. It is a fine good act, not better than any other of the kind. The "The Girl of the Year," a ventriloquist act that was in evidence with a quiet water and juggling stunt that was a surprise.

WIDE POWERS GIVEN CHINESE PRESIDENT

Peking, April 30.—The amended constitution for the republic of China, which will be formally promulgated tomorrow, is notable for the wide powers it gives the president. The document, as it now stands, is the work of a constitutional convention which has been laboring here since the middle of March. The president is empowered to appoint, open, suspend, and dissolve the legislature. He is also empowered to appoint and dismiss the judges and refer back to the legislature for reconsideration bills already passed by it. If such measures are rejected by a three-fourths majority the president may veto them.

are two things that must enter into the optical business. Combining these two with high-grade workmanship, careful attention, honest dealings, and the grinding of the greater portion of prescriptions written for glasses by our better oculists, has fully demonstrated the fact that there is something indescribable about the way in which we conduct our business that few opticians have been able to understand. We know when glasses are suited to your eyes, and if you need the service of an oculist we will so advise, but positively will not accept your money without satisfaction from us. Just ask anybody if this is true.

ATLANTA CHOIRS WILL HAVE ALL-DAY SINGING

Grand opera is all right for those who have the price and time to attend, but unfortunately not all are so blessed. So for the pleasure and inspiration of lovers of vocal music, especially of the old-time variety, the East Side Tabernacle choir has invited the various choirs of the city which make up the Atlanta Singing convention to hold an all-day session at the East Side church Sunday. The majority of these choirs have responded to the invitation. Dinner will be served all who attend. The choir will be carried by the large crowds expected to carry the large choir. Among the choirs to be present are Cooper street, Western Heights, and other noted choirs. Several orchestras and eminent soloists will be featured of the program. The last year's convention was held at Buckhead and was attended by several thousand people.

RAILWAYS NEED MONEY, SAYS LOUIS BRANDELS

Efficiency Appear Says More Revenue Must Come, But Opposes Rate Advance.

Washington, April 30.—That the net income and operating expenses of the eastern railroads are "smaller than the constant with the prosperity and the welfare of the community" was announced as a conclusion today by Louis D. Brandeis, of the supreme court, in a speech before the Interstate Commerce commission, in the 5 per cent advance rate case. He maintained, however, that to make a horizontal advance in all freight rates as proposed by the railroads was illegal and beyond the powers of the commission.

Mr. Brandeis said steps should be taken as soon as possible to increase the carriers' revenues, and suggested that testimony given at the commission's hearings had shown how that might be done without advancing rates. He referred to the elimination of special allowances to shippers, car spotting and other free services now performed by the roads.

Just before Mr. Brandeis submitted his conclusions, Clifford Thorne, of Iowa, representing dissenting opinion to the proposed advance, had completed an elaborate argument. He had said that the carriers have been making more net income during the last four years than in any previous four years in their history.

He maintained not only that the railroads were receiving adequate revenues and making a fair return on their stock, but that their credit was as good or better than that of other industries, as proved by their ability to dispose of hundreds of millions of securities during the last four years.

William A. Glasgow, Jr., of Philadelphia, counsel for dissent and coal producers, declared that such an advance of freight rate as proposed was a matter of public policy, and should be dealt with only by the congress, and that the railroads had no power to authorize or sanction a horizontal advance, its authority being limited to the determination of the reasonableness of particular rates after hearing all the facts. He urged that the reasonableness of particular rates could not be determined merely by a showing that the roads needed more revenue.

Judge Henderson, of the Iowa railway commission, argued against the proposed increase from the standpoint of the independent producers in Iowa of starch, glucose, distillers, corn oil, etc., and there had been no evidence offered by the carriers that the present rates are unreasonable.

HINDUS ARE WILLING TO SETTLE ARID LANDS

Washington, April 30.—An Indian Brahmin, T. H. Bhutta, Kyanagh Hill, New York, today testified before the house immigration committee that if congress would permit the settlement of India would be glad to settle on all the arid lands west of the Mississippi, and would make them bloom in a period of years.

He opposed the Congress bill for Hindu exclusion, except as to students, and he said that the India laborers ought to be allowed to come in, assimilate American ideas and go back home to help their motherland progress.

Rich's Good Morning!

The May Sale of Silks: That Notable Event

NEW SILKS—at prices one would never attach to silks holding the forefront of popularity, as are these.

RICH'S May Sale has so thoroughly established itself as the banner silk event of the year that its mere announcement is enough to crowd the Silk Store.

The sale this year, moreover, takes on a new standard of excellence. We not only duplicate the silks from regular feature at sale prices, but we also add silks richer and finer than anything heretofore shown.

The silks alone must tell their own story of beauty and exclusiveness. Both of our mammoth show windows are given over to part of the silks; the rest of them will be shown in the Silk Annex this morning at 8:30.

$5 Satins $2.65

FEDERAL TROOPS IN COLORADO

As Soon as Regulars Reach Strike Zone the Warfare Ceases—Strikers Are Returning to Their Homes.

Denver, Colo., April 30.—With federal troops on the ground, conditions were quiet today in the Colorado strike zone. State troops are being relieved by the regulars and the strikers are said to be dispersing. The federal soldiers now patrolling the Front county district and regular troops superseded the militiamen at Walsenburg tonight. Regulars will occupy the Ludlow district tomorrow and the national guardmen from both Walsenburg and Ludlow are expected to reach Denver by tomorrow night.

The strikers have surrendered no arms either to the militia or the federal troops. Leaders tonight were going among the hills of southern Colorado, urging the men to disperse and return to their homes, but according to John Lawson, international board member of the United Mine Workers of America, they have not been told to give up their weapons.

"Men in all walks of life fought with the militia," Lawson explained, "but they will not oppose the federal troops. They would not have opposed the militia or the gunmen affiliated with them. Now they are returning to their homes. The federal troops at Ludlow and Forbes will be relieved by the regulars."

"The guns are the property of our men," Lawson added, "and so far as I know they will keep them." The immediate withdrawal of state troops from the strike zone and the speedy disarmament of mine guards are among the conditions named by the union leaders.

The governor's office it was said an appeal for help had been received from Sheriff McAfee, of Weld county, the mines in the vicinity of Greeley and the 12th military still is in Louisville.

Three miners from Routt county reported to Governor Ammons today that every man employed at the Oakdale mine near Steamboat Springs had received a threatening letter. No troops are stationed there.

REGULARS ARRIVE AND WAR CEASES. April 30.—The strike zone tonight strikers and guards were being relieved by regular troops. Colorado for ten days laid aside the rules and regulations of the law because Major W. W. Holbrook, commanding the Second cavalry, brought some 200 regulars to Trinidad early today and announced that he was here to restore peace.

"We are not here to take sides between the strikers and their former employers," Major Holbrook said, "we are here to restore order. I have no quarrel with either side, but I am confident they will not be permitted to restore peace."

Major Holbrook admitted that negotiations had been opened in the past with the disarmament of the strikers. He declined, however, to reveal the exact nature of the negotiations or the success with which they had been attended.

Asked if the mine guards would be disarmed he said:

"The guards, of course, cannot be disarmed just at present, with the property of the company in the hands of the strikers. However, the guards will be restricted. The guards will be permitted to protect the property of the company, but they will not be permitted to shoot the miners or to take sides."

The major said he would visit the Ludlow district tomorrow and return to their homes, but according to John Lawson, international board member of the United Mine Workers of America, they have not been told to give up their weapons.

Virginia, and even worse consequences in Colorado. Senator Chittenden took exception to the statement that the Colorado miners never had been in such a favorable position as recently existed. Senator Chittenden's remarks were taken up by Senator Martin, presented by Senator Chittenden.

Senator Martin was "tricked," said Chittenden, "and he was ready to the point of slaughter."

GENERAL STRIKE TEST. April 30.—The Illinois district convention of the United Mine Workers of America, held at Chicago, today took action on the resolution asking the International Federation of Labor to call a general strike throughout the United States in protest against the Colorado labor trouble.

$200,000 OFFERS. April 30.—The entire defense fund of $200,000 belonging to district No. 14, United Mine Workers of America, was offered to the hands of John P. White, international president of the mine workers today for use in helping the Colorado strikers.

OPERATORS REFUSE TO SETTLE STRIKE. April 30.—Nineteen Colorado operating companies today refused to settle the strike. The companies were represented by Chairman M. D. Foster, who said he would not negotiate for settlement of the strike until the recognition of the United Mine Workers of America was refused.

ANSWER. Cecil, Ala.
I am sorry to hear that you are having trouble with your chickens, and I am sure you will find the following suggestions helpful. I have a nice lot of Black Leghorns, and I have been successful in raising them. I have a nice lot of Black Leghorns, and I have been successful in raising them. I have a nice lot of Black Leghorns, and I have been successful in raising them.

times after they are one week old. In addition they should have their regular feed of the best scratch feed that can be bought. Once a week they should have a small amount of bran and corn meal, and a small amount of molasses mixed with it. If this is done and they are kept clean, and above all things they should have plenty of water. If the water is not clean, it should be changed. If the water is not clean, it should be changed. If the water is not clean, it should be changed.
